The ROI of Partnership

While traditional sponsorships often separate your team from your mission, this program brings it inside your four walls. Instead of a passive investment, you gain a "lived out" partnership that allows your entire staff to participate in the giving process every week. This hands-on approach generates lasting value for your organization through:

Workforce Pipeline Development: Cultivate future employees who know your culture and operations before they even graduate college.

Leadership Training: Test and refine the management skills of your internal staff by having them supervise student teams.

Employee Engagement: Energize your office environment and boost retention by uniting your team around a shared, impactful mission.

IF I CANCELED
THIS PROGRAM, I'D HAVE A REVOLT.

Seamless Integration. Maximum Impact.

The most common question we hear is, 'What can a high school student actually do?'. The answer goes far beyond the mailroom. Our students are digital natives who step into professional environments ready to contribute to real projects that move your business forward.

The Logistics: A True Partnership

We Handle the Commute

Students are transported to and from your office by our team. No liability for your staff.

We Coordinate the Schedule

Students work one full day a week on a rotating schedule, based on what year of school they are in.

We Support the Partnership

PARTNERS IN ACTION

EightEleven

The Eight Eleven Group leverages the Corporate Work Study program to drive genuine business results while engaging their staff.

INDUSTRY: Professional Services & Philanthropy

THE STRATEGY: They utilize a "team mentorship" model, ensuring students have multiple touchpoints and consistent support without overburdening a single manager.

THE WORK: Students manage inventory for the internal "swag store," conduct market research, and support IT functions.

THE RESULT: What began as a single internship expanded to five local students and a national rollout across their branch network.
